ROAD WORK IN COUNTY HELPS UNEMPLOYMENT

Four Highway Con- struction Projects Are Rapidly Near- ing Completion.

DESIGNATE NEW WORK MARCH 1

The Adams county maintenance office of the state highway department has done its share in helping to relieve unemployment in Gettysburg and Adams county during the winter.

F. E. Sechrist, superintendent of the local maintenance office of the highway department, today said 286 men are now at work on highway construction projects in the county, and that the number at work during the winter varied from 270 to 320.

Four Mile Stretch

The most extensive road improvement job in progress during the winter months was a 4.8-mile project from the Fairfield road through Knoxlyn to the Lincoln highway. This road leaves the Fairfield road at Dubbe's stand, runs through Knoxlyn and connects with the Lincoln highway east of Hershey park.

Another stretch of country road improved during the winter was a two-mile stretch from the Carlisle road at Van Dyke's to Schriver's crossing on the Harrisburg road.

The local maintenance force constructed 1.6 miles of road from New Oxford in a southerly direction and .08 of a mile connecting the Irish-town and Centennial roads at Conewago chapel.

All four links built during the winter are the new oil-bound macadam, and were constructed entirely with state funds.

Improve Other Roads

In addition to these road jobs, the local maintenance department has been improving various township roads which have been taken over under the Pinchot road program. The various township roads are being made passable, but are not being given the oil-bound macadam treatment. This work is expected to follow during the summer.

Considerable maintenance work has been in progress during the winter on roads previously improved.

MILITARY RITES FOR WAR VET

Local Legionnaires Participate In Funeral Services Of Emmitsburg Man.

Funeral services for James T. Hunsberr, 34, civil war veteran, were held Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the Elias Lutheran church, Emmitsburg, the Rev. Philip Bower officiating.

The final rites for Emmitsburg's "grand old man" were impressive. A squad of American Legion members of the Aitert J. Lentz post, 202, Gettysburg, with William Eckenrode, post commander in charge, gave a fitting military burial to Emmitsburg's last civil war veteran.

After services in the church, the cortege, led by the Legion squad to the beat of muffled drums, moved to the Mountain View cemetery, a half mile distant. Here the final service was held by the pastor and this was followed by a salute over the grave by the Legion squad. George Hughes then sounded the taps, which was answered by Fred Kriemhagen, another bugler stationed in the town.

Mr. Hunsberr, who is survived by his widow, served four years in company F, first regiment of Cole's Maryland cavalry, having joined when eighteen years of age.

pallbearers were Luther Kugler, Frank W. Weant, James T. Hays, Charles J. Rowe, Cecile C. Combs and Charles L. Sharrer, all members of the American Legion post at Emmitsburg.

Physician's Car Stolen Saturday

The coupe of Dr. W. R. Cadle, Emmitsburg, was stolen Saturday night from in front of his residence on West Main street. The doctor had been in the habit of leaving his car parked along the street near his home and had left the keys in the car. No clues to the thief or thieves has yet been found.

Legion's National Defense Committee Protests Weak Armed Forces of Country

Report Made Public To The Gettysburg Times This Morning By Charles W. Schick, Of Chicago, Native Of Gettysburg, And Active Member Of National Group.

A vigorous protest against the present national defense of this country and a pledge to conduct an intensified drive to bolster the army and naval forces of this country are contained in a report of the national defense committee of The American Legion, made public today to The Gettysburg Times by Charles W. Schick, of Chicago, and a native of Gettysburg. Mr. Schick is one of eight members comprising the national legion defense committee.

LONG DISTANCE EXCHANGE HERE IS ABOLISHED

All Telephone Service To Be Operated From One Switchboard Hereafter.

BOARD IN BANK BUILDING IS OUT

Engineers of the United Telephone company Monday completed the installation of two new long distance positions on the switchboard in the Masonic building. Installation of these positions without interruption of telephone service is considered one of the most difficult jobs which confront telephone engineers.

The new equipment will be cut into service tonight by E. M. Williams, superintendent of equipment, assisted by Scott Smith and Edward Trimmer and the installation crew.

The addition of the toll positions to the switchboard, used previously to furnish local and A. B. toll service only, gives Gettysburg, for the first time, a telephone system providing service for the entire community from one telephone exchange, with all operating equipment located in one room. Since the unification of the two systems which formerly provided telephone service for Gettysburg, the United Telephone company has operated two exchanges, one for local service in the Masonic building and one for long distance in the First National bank building.

Improves Service

Unification of the toll and local switchboards into a single telephone exchange is designed to improve long distance service, at the same time providing better working conditions for the operators. Under the system of two exchanges it was necessary for the chief operator to spend part of her time in each exchange. With the complete switchboard equipment in one room, it will be possible for the operators and chief operator to give full attention to furnishing service from one exchange.

C. A. Bixler, local district manager for the United Telephone company of Pennsylvania, said that four expert telephone engineers worked four weeks changing the equipment.

MANY TEACHERS MEET THURSDAY

Dr. R. F. Strebel, Syracuse University, Will Deliver Address.

A meeting for Adams county school teachers will be held at the Gettysburg high school building, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Prof. W. Raymond Shank, Adams county superintendent of schools, announced today.

Dr. R. F. Strebel, of Syracuse university, will be the principal speaker for the occasion. His subject being "Social Studies."

Miss Margaret Peters, Gettysburg, and Miss Jessica Weaver, Biglerville, delegates from Adams county to the Pennsylvania state educational association convention at Pittsburgh recently, will give their reports.

Music for the evening will be in charge of Prof. J. W. Yoder, of Huntingdon, and teachers are urged to bring their 1931 institute song books to the meeting.

On Friday, the annual meeting of the Adams county school directors' association will be held at the high school.

BROTHER GIVES BLOOD MONDAY

A victim of typhoid fever, Wilbur Hartman Schwartz, 31, Hanover street, assistant accountant at the Gettysburg furniture factory, died at 1:05 o'clock this morning at the Hanover General hospital, where he was admitted as a patient on January 29. He had been ill at home about a week before he was removed to the hospital.

When Schwartz's condition took a turn for the worse Monday, his brother, Clarence Schwartz, of Littlestown, submitted to a blood transfusion in an effort to save the sick man's life, but the emergency measure failed to bolster his weakened condition.

Mr. Schwartz was a son of Ira and Minnie (Hartman) Schwartz, of Littlestown, and was graduated from the Littlestown high school in 1920. Four years later, he was graduated from Gettysburg college.

Mr. Schwartz was active in fraternal circles of Adams county. He was a member of Good Samaritan lodge, 336, Free and Accepted Masons, Gettysburg; Gettys lodge, 124, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Gettysburg; Mary Gettys Rebekah lodge, 105, Gettysburg, and Eagle Encampment, 158, Hanover.

At the time of his death, Mr. Schwartz was secretary of the Adams county past grand's association of the Odd Fellows.

He was an active member of Grace Lutheran church, Two Taverns, and was a member of the council there at the time of his death.

Mr. Schwartz married Miss Naomi Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Miller, near Littlestown, in June, 1928. He is survived by his parents, his widow, one brother, Clarence Schwartz, and one sister, Miss Maybell Schwartz, both of Littlestown.

Funeral Thursday

Brief funeral services from the home of his parents in Littlestown Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, with further services in Grace Lutheran church, the Rev. J. M. Myers and the Rev. A. G. Longenecker officiating. Interment in Evergreen cemetery here.

The body may be viewed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Schwartz, (Continued on Page Two)

Aged Countian Breaks Shoulder

Miss Mary Staub, 81-year-old resident of East Berlin, was admitted to the Warner hospital, Monday afternoon, after she fell and fractured her left shoulder. Her condition is said to be as good as could be expected.

Congressman's Secretary To Be Here Wednesday

Walter J. Rothensies, secretary to Congressman Harry L. Haines, of the York-Adams congressional district, will be at the Hotel Gettysburg Wednesday instead of Thursday this week.

Congressman Haines or his secretary have spent one day each week in Gettysburg since Mr. Haines' election to the congressional office. Every Thursday has been "Gettysburg Day" for the congressman during the past. Mr. Haines has made a number of weekly visits here and when pressed by official duties in Washington his secretary, Mr. Rothensies, has come here. Since the opening of congress in December Mr. Rothensies has come to Gettysburg each week.

Announcement was made by Mr. Haines that Mr. Rothensies would be in Gettysburg Wednesday instead of Thursday this week because of the pressure of official duties in Washington Thursday, requiring the attendance of both men.

Annual Pre-Lenten Retreat Under Way

The annual pre-Lenten retreat for ministers of the West Pennsylvania synod of the Lutheran church was in progress today at the Lutheran theological seminary. About 75 ministers were present for the morning session, with others expected later in the day.

The retreat for members of the Maryland synod, which was held Monday at the seminary, was attended by about 85 ministers.

LOSES DRIVER'S LICENSE

The state highway department today announced that the operator's license of Daniel M. Leppo, Littlestown R. 4, has been revoked for failing to appear for a hearing. The department restored the license of M. E. Feaser, Abbottstown R. 1.

SCOUTS SHOW WORK TO MEN

Members Of Two Civic Clubs Entertained By Local Scout Troops Monday Night.

Some of the many worth-while things members of Gettysburg's six troops of Boy Scouts have learned since they were organized here last summer were demonstrated in capable fashion at a joint meeting of the Rotary and Lions' clubs at the Hotel Gettysburg, Monday evening.

Members of the Catholic church troop demonstrated first aid to the injured; Presbyterian scouts, artificial respiration; Methodist, knot tying; St. James' Lutheran, tin can cooking and a game; Trinity Reformed, fire by flint and steel, and Christ Lutheran, various scout activities in cadence.

Afterward, all Boy Scouts of the community gathered in front of the Hotel Gettysburg and listened to a radio address by Walter Head, president of the Boy Scouts of America, and later renewed their allegiance to scouting by repeating the scout oath with Robert West, son of the chief scout, leading the oath over a nation-wide radio hookup from station WJZ, New York.

Parents' night will be observed by the various troops in the 6 churches this evening and Thursday evening.

Butler Township P. T. Meets Feb. 18

Butler township will hold its monthly Parent-Teachers' meeting at Guernsey school February 18. The program which will be of a patriotic nature will begin at 7:30 p. m. It will be augmented by music by the Biglerville high school orchestra, readings by William Penzell, of Gettysburg, and an address by Prof. Floyd Slaybaugh, assistant county school superintendent of schools. A social hour will follow the program, proceeds from which will be used toward buying a dictionary for the school. Mrs. Maud Walter is the teacher of the school.

Freighter Saves 2 Adrift 48 Hours As Famished Shark Awaits Meal

Newark, Feb. 9 (AP).—The freighter Beatrice of the Bull line, a trim little ship in coastal trade, tided up here Monday with two men on board it had virtually snatched from the jaws of a shark thirty miles off the Florida coast.

The brief entry in its log, however, and the words and manner of its white-haired, genial skipper, Captain John W. Mumford, had a tendency to minimize the whole affair.

Three days ago at sunset the man at the wheel sighted a small craft, flying a distress signal, a mile and a half away on the Beatrice's starboard beam. In the boat, a power launch, which had been disabled two days before, were two men, Joseph Doyle and Harry Powers, "from somewhere in Kansas," the skipper said.

They had drifted 135 miles, their

NOTED COLLEGE GRAD EXPIRES

Rev. Dr. William Miller Baum, Jr., 73, Passes Away In Canajoharie, N. Y.

The Rev. Dr. William Miller Baum, Jr., 73, graduate of Gettysburg college and the Lutheran theological seminary, died at Canajoharie, New York, last Friday, according to word received here today. He was born June 30, 1858, a son of the Rev. William Miller Baum, at Winchester, Virginia. His father was graduated from Gettysburg college in 1846.

The Rev. Dr. Baum was graduated from the college in 1877 and from the seminary in 1880. He was salutatorian of his class at college. The degree of doctor of divinity was conferred upon him by Gettysburg college in 1903.

From 1880 until 1883, the Rev. Dr. Baum was pastor of the Lutheran church at Phoenixville, and from then until his death he was pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church, Canajoharie.

He was president of Hartwick synod, New York, for many years and was a trustee of Hartwick seminary. He was secretary of the organization meetings of the United Lutheran church in America in 1918.

The Rev. Dr. Baum was a bachelor.

Surviving are three brothers: J. Croll Baum, of the class of 1872; C. B. Baum, of the class of 1874, a member of the college board of trustees, and George C. Baum, class of 1893, prominent architect.

Legion Auxiliary Dinner Attended By Sixty Members

The American Legion auxiliary gave a dinner in the post home Monday evening at which 60 persons were present. Mrs. Howard Hartzel presided. Mrs. James Paul, York, director for this district, gave an address on the aims and purposes of the auxiliary. Brief talks were made by Mrs. Maude Wierman Kennedy and Mrs. Sewell Kapp.

Mrs. Paul, the guest of honor, was presented with a bouquet of American Beauty roses. A short business meeting followed, at which time fifteen new members were accepted. The auxiliary announced a card party for Tuesday, February 23.

PRESIDENT OF SEMINARY WILL ADDRESS G. O. P.

Dr. John Aberly To Deliver Address At Lincoln Day Din- ner, Friday.

LOCAL JURIST WILL PRESIDE

Dr. John Aberly, president of the Gettysburg Lutheran theological seminary, will deliver the principal address at the Lincoln day dinner of the Adams county republican committee, in the Hotel Gettysburg Friday night, at 6 o'clock.

Announcement of Dr. Aberly's acceptance of the committee's invitation to address local republicans was made this morning.

Judge Donald P. McPherson will preside.

The committee considered securing a speaker from national headquarters, at Washington, but later decided to make the first annual Lincoln day dinner, strictly a local function and selected the seminary to deliver the address. Dr. Aberly was approached but hesitated to accept because of a previous engagement. Later he informed the committee that his earlier engagement had been postponed and he would address the republicans.

Expect Large Crowd

Friday night's function will be one of many to be held in practically every county in the country, sponsored by the republican national committee, according to a display announcement appearing in tonight's edition of The Times. A letter from R. B. Lucas, executive director of the national organization, addressed to all county committees appears in the display announcement.

Republicans of the county are urged to attend the dinner and to make reservations for other republican friends. The committee is desirous of having a capacity crowd for the first annual dinner and addressed letters to all district chairmen, with post card enclosures to be filled out and mailed at once for reservations. The committee in charge of the dinner must close reservations Thursday morning and are urging republicans who plan to attend the dinner to make their reservations immediately.

The dinner will be served at 6 o'clock.

Young Mother And 5 Kiddies Die In Blaze

Hazleton, Feb. 9 (AP).—Mrs. Carmen Romanello, 38, died today with five of her ten children in a fire that destroyed her home in a mining village near here.

Her husband, five other children and a boarder escaped.

Ralph, 6 months old, died with his mother. Louis, his twin brother, was carried to safety.

The father and eldest daughter had left the home for work earlier in the morning. The mother prepared breakfast for them and returned to bed. When she discovered the fire two hours later she ran to the street to give the alarm and then rushed back to rescue the sleeping children. She was not seen again.

STOCK REPORT

New York, Feb. 9 (AP).—Stocks rallied moderately today after a small decline at the opening. Short covering appeared to provide an impetus for the rise but the volume of trade remained small and gains were largely confined to fractions.

LITTLESTOWN TO BUILD NEW HIGH SCHOOL

$50,000 Structure Will Be Erected This Sum- mer, Dr. Crouse Asserts.

WILL BE BUILT ON 14-ACRE PLOT

A new high school building to cost upward of $50,000 is being planned for Littlestown. Dr. H. S. Crouse, president of the school board, announced today.

The proposed building will be erected on a 4-acre plot, adjoining the Littlestown playground, and two new streets will be opened to give access to the place. Bernard Starr, of Harrisburg, a native of Littlestown, has been chosen as the architect.

As soon as the state department of public instruction conducts a survey of the location and the size of the building required to meet Littlestown's future needs, plans will be drawn and bids asked.

Start Work in Spring

Dr. Crouse said work on the proposed structure would be started in the spring. He said it was planned to have the building under roof by fall so that work on the interior might be done next winter, and the place ready for occupancy in the spring of 1933.

The new high school will be a 14-unit structure containing about 25 rooms. An auditorium providing seating capacity for from 700 to 800 people is planned. The auditorium will also serve as a gymnasium.

When the new building is completed, classes from the seventh to the twelfth grades, inclusive, will be quartered there, while the present building will be used for the first six grades.

Overcrowded Conditions

The present building, erected in 1901, has been overcrowded for several years. At the present time, two rooms in the fire engine house, next to the high school, and a portable two-room building are being used by Littlestown to accommodate its pupils.

Littlestown's school-housing problem is similar to that of Gettysburg. Many pupils from townships around Littlestown go to that town for their high school education, because Littlestown has a first class, four-year high school.

Paul E. King is principal of the Littlestown high school.

Fasnacht Day Is Observed In Good OldFashionedWay

Gettysburg and Adams county observed Shrove Tuesday, or Fasnacht Day, today with heaping platefuls of succulent doughnuts, smothered in sugar, gracing many tables at all three meals. Many housewives arose before daybreak today to have fasnachts on the table for breakfast.

Among the Pennsylvania Dutch there is a custom that the last person out of bed on Shrove Tuesday is the fasnacht and must go without any of the delicacies. Consequently, that is one day in the year everyone tries to get up before the other.

H. B. Gelselman, Mt. Pleasant township, had fasnachts for breakfast this morning, and he brought afterward a large box to the court house for the weekly meeting of the Adams county commissioners. As a result, the commissioners' office was the most popular place around the court house this morning.

Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, will be observed tomorrow.

Boy Scouts

By DR. W. E. TILBERG

Dean, Gettysburg College

Great emphasis is placed in the Boy Scout movement on character building and citizenship training, but the Boy Scouts of America have been wise in never losing sight of the fact that "scouting is a great game" to use the words of the founder of the movement, Lord Baden-Powell. The scout program enlarges upon the legends of knight-hood and chivalry and the lore of the plainsman and the Indian. Activities actually based upon these provide a leisure time educational game in which boys "learn by doing."

Scouting is a game in which scouts and leaders alike participate voluntarily. Boys on their part become scouts because of their own desire to play the game, and it is a game in which fathers and sons may join together with mutual satisfaction.

Report Made Public To The Gettysburg Times This Morning By Charles W. Schick, Of Chicago, Native Of Gettysburg, And Active Member Of National Group.

A vigorous protest against the present national defense of this country and a pledge to conduct an intensified drive to bolster the army and naval forces of this country are contained in a report of the national defense committee of The American Legion, made public today to The Gettysburg Times by Charles W. Schick, of Chicago, and a native of Gettysburg. Mr. Schick is one of eight members comprising the national legion defense committee.

Mr. Schick, who is ill at the Hotel Gettysburg, stopped here enroute home. This morning, from his bedside he submitted the report of the defense committee, adopted at an enthusiastic meeting in Washington, Saturday.

The report also favors the continuance of the Reserve Officers Training corps, a unit of which has been maintained at Gettysburg college for several years, and is said to be one of the finest in the country.

Committee Report

The report of the defense committee follows:

We believe the American people have confidence in the sincerity of The American Legion, it being our desire and faith to serve them. The American Legion would be void of patriotic impulses if it failed to defend its policy upon national defense. Our investigation convinces us that the present defense of America is not only a crime, but is a national disgrace. The regular army does not equal the military force allowed a defeated Germany by the victorious allies. Forces are at work within and without our country seeking to weaken and destroy our military strength and make our nation a helpless physical bankrupt.

At the time of his death, Mr. Schwartz was secretary of the Adams county past grand's association of the Odd Fellows.

He was an active member of Grace Lutheran church, Two Taverners, and was a member of the council there at the time of his death.

Mr. Schwartz married Miss Naomi Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Miller, near Littlestown, in June, 1928. He is survived by his parents, his widow, one brother, Clarence Schwartz, and one sister, Miss Maybell Schwartz, both of Littlestown.

Funeral Thursday

Brief funeral services from the home of his parents in Littlestown Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, with further services in Grace Lutheran church, the Rev. J. M. Myers and the Rev. A. G. Longenecker officiating. Interment in Evergreen cemetery here.

The body may be viewed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Schwartz. (Continued on Page Two)

Aged Countian Breaks Shoulder

Miss Mary Staub, 81-year-old resident of East Berlin, was admitted to the Warner hospital, Monday afternoon, after she fell and fractured her left shoulder. Her condition is said to be as good as could be expected.

George Sachs, Hanover street, who submitted to an operation for acute appendicitis at the hospital ten days ago, and William Eckenrode, Orrtanna, were discharged as patients.

Mrs. Anna Myers Is Buried Monday

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Myers, 69, were held from St. Joseph's Catholic church, Emmitsburg, Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The services, consisting of requiem mass and sermon, were conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Father P. J. Conroy.

Mrs. Myers was born in Emmitsburg and spent her entire life in that vicinity. Her death Saturday was the result of several months' illness of complications of diseases.

Surviving are her husband, William Myers; two sons, Charles, of Odenton, Maryland, and William, Emmitsburg; three sisters, Mrs. J. M. Kerrigan, Emmitsburg; Mrs. Daniel Shovel and Mrs. Motter, both of Baltimore; two brothers, Joseph Rosensteel, Baltimore, and John Rosensteel, Emmitsburg. Twelve grandchildren also survive.

Palbearers were John Topper, George Ling, Edwin Chrismer, Peter Burkett, Frank Wivel and Anthony Wivel. Interment was made in St. Anthony's cemetery, near Emmitsburg.

LOSES DRIVER'S LICENSE

SCOUTS SHOW WORK TO MEN

Members Of Two Civic Clubs Entertained By Local Scout Troops Monday Night.

Some of the many worth-while things members of Gettysburg's six troops of Boy Scouts have learned since they were organized here last summer were demonstrated in capable fashion at a joint meeting of the Rotary and Lions' clubs at the Hotel Gettysburg, Monday evening. Members of the Catholic church troop demonstrated first aid to the injured; Presbyterian scouts, artificial respiration; Methodist, knot tying; St. James' Lutheran, tin can cooking and a game; Trinity Reformed, fire by flint and steel, and Christ Lutheran, various scout activities in cadence.

Afterward, all Boy Scouts of the community gathered in front of the Hotel Gettysburg and listened to a radio address by Walter Head, president of the Boy Scouts of America, and later renewed their allegiance to scouting by repeating the scout oath with Robert West, son of the chief scout, leading the oath over a nation-wide radio hookup from station WJZ, New York.

Parents' night will be observed by the various troops in the 6 churches this evening and Thursday evening.

Butler Township P. T. Meets Feb. 18

Butler township will hold its monthly Parent-Teachers' meeting at Guernsey school February 18. The program which will be of a patriotic nature will begin at 7:30 p. m. It will be augmented by music by the Biglerville high school orchestra, readings by William Penney, of Gettysburg, and an address by Prof. Floyd Slaybaugh, assistant county school superintendent of schools. A social hour will follow the program, proceeds from which will be used toward buying a dictionary for the school. Mrs. Maud Walter is the teacher of the school.

The Rev. Dr. Baum was a bachelor.

Surviving are three brothers: J. Croil Baum, of the class of 1872; C. B. Baum, of the class of 1874, a member of the college board of trustees, and George C. Baum, class of 1893, prominent architect.

Freighter Saves 2 Adrift 48 Hours As Famished Shark Awaits Meal

Newark, Feb. 9 (AP).—The freighter Beatrice of the Bull line, a trim little ship in coastal trade, lifted up here Monday with two men on board it had virtually snatched from the jaws of a shark thirty miles off the Florida coast.

The brief entry in its log, however, and the words and manner of its white-haired, genial skipper, Captain John W. Mumford, had a tendency to minimize the whole affair.

Three days ago at sunset the man at the wheel sighted a small craft, flying a distress signal, a mile and a half away on the Beatrice's starboard beam. In the boat, a power launch, which had been disabled two days before, were two men, Joseph Doyle and Harry Powers, "from somewhere in Kansas," the skipper said.

They had drifted 135 miles, their

Rev. Dr. William Miller Baum, Jr., 73, Passes Away In Canajoharie, N. Y.

The Rev. Dr. William Miller Baum, Jr., 73, graduate of Gettysburg college and the Lutheran theological seminary, died at Canajoharie, New York, last Friday, according to word received here today. He was born June 30, 1858, a son of the Rev. William Miller Baum, at Winchester, Virginia. His father was graduated from Gettysburg college in 1846.

The Rev. Dr. Baum was graduated from the college in 1877 and from the seminary in 1880. He was salutatorian of his class at college. The degree of doctor of divinity was conferred upon him by Gettysburg college in 1903.

From 1880 until 1883, the Rev. Dr. Baum was pastor of the Lutheran church at Phoenixville, and from then until his death he was pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church, Canajoharie.

He was president of Hartwick synod, New York, for many years and was a trustee of Hartwick seminary. He was secretary of the organization meetings of the United Lutheran church in America in 1918.

The Rev. Dr. Baum was a bachelor.

Surviving are three brothers: J. Croil Baum, of the class of 1872; C. B. Baum, of the class of 1874, a member of the college board of trustees, and George C. Baum, class of 1893, prominent architect.

Young Mother And 5 Kiddies Die In Blaze

Hazleton, Feb. 9 (AP).—Mrs. Carmen Romanell, 38, died today with five of her ten children in a fire that destroyed her home in a mining village near here.

Her husband, five other children and a boarder escaped.

Ralph, 6 months old, died with his mother. Louis, his twin brother, was carried to safety.

The father and eldest daughter had left the home for work earlier in the morning. The mother prepared breakfast for them and returned to bed. When she discovered the fire two hours later she ran to the street to give the alarm and then rushed back to rescue the sleeping children. She was not seen again.

Legion Auxiliary Dinner Attended By Sixty Members

The American Legion auxiliary gave a dinner in the post home Monday evening at which 60 persons were present. Mrs. Howard Hartzell presided. Mrs. James Paul, York, director for this district, gave an address on the aims and purposes of the auxiliary. Brief talks were made by Mrs. Maude Wiernman Kennedy and Mrs. Sewell Kapp.

Mrs. Paul, the guest of honor, was presented with a bouquet of American Beauty roses. A short business meeting followed, at which time fifteen new members were accepted. The auxiliary announced a card party for Tuesday, February 23.

PRESIDENT OF SEMINARY WILL ADDRESS G. O. P.

Dr. John Aberly To Deliver Address At Lincoln Day Din- ner, Friday.

LOCAL JURIST WILL PRESIDE

Dr. John Aberly, president of the Gettysburg Lutheran theological seminary, will deliver the principal address at the Lincoln day dinner of the Adams county republican committee, in the Hotel Gettysburg Friday night, at 6 o'clock.

Announcement of Dr. Aberly's acceptance of the committee's invitation to address local republicans was made this morning.

Judge Donald P. McPherson will preside.

The committee considered securing a speaker from national headquarters, at Washington, but later decided to make the first annual Lincoln day dinner, strictly a local function and selected the seminary to deliver the address. Dr. Aberly was approached but hesitated to accept because of a previous engagement. Later he informed the committee that his earlier engagement had been postponed and he would address the republicans.

Expect Large Crowd

Friday night's function will be one of many to be held in practically every county in the country, sponsored by the republican national committee, according to a display announcement appearing in tonight's edition of The Times. A letter from Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the national organization, addressed to all county committees appears in the display announcement.

Republicans of the county are urged to attend the dinner and to make reservations for other republican friends. The committee is desirous of having a capacity crowd for the first annual dinner and addressed letters to all district chairmen, with post card enclosures to be filled out and mailed at once for reservations. The committee in charge of the dinner must close reservations Thursday morning and are urging republicans who plan to attend the dinner to make their reservations immediately.

The dinner will be served at 6 o'clock.

LITTLESTOWN TO BUILD NEW HIGH SCHOOL

$50,000 Structure Will Be Erected This Sum- mer, Dr. Crouse Asserts.

WILL BE BUILT ON 14-ACRE PLOT

A new high school building to cost upward of $50,000 is being planned for Littlestown. Dr. H. S. Crouse, president of the school board, announced today.

The proposed building will be erected on a 4-acre plot, adjoining the Littlestown playground, and two new streets will be opened to give access to the place. Bernard Starr, of Harrisburg, a native of Littlestown, has been chosen as the architect.

As soon as the state department of public instruction conducts a survey of the location and the size of the building required to meet Littlestown's future needs, plans will be drawn and bids asked.

Start Work in Spring

Dr. Crouse said work on the proposed structure would be started in the spring. He said it was planned to have the building under roof by fall so that work on the interior might be done next winter, and the place ready for occupancy in the spring of 1933.

The new high school will be a 14-unit structure containing about 25 rooms. An auditorium providing seating capacity for from 700 to 800 people is planned. The auditorium will also serve as a gymnasium.

When the new building is completed, classes from the seventh to the twelfth grades, inclusive, will be quartered there, while the present building will be used for the first six grades.

Overcrowded Conditions

The present building, erected in 1901, has been overcrowded for several years. At the present time, two rooms in the fire engine house, next to the high school, and a portable two-room building are being used by Littlestown to accommodate its pupils.

Littlestown's school-housing problem is similar to that of Gettysburg. Many pupils from townships around Littlestown go to that town for their high school education, because Littlestown has a first class, four-year high school.

Paul E. King is principal of the Littlestown high school.

Fasnacht Day Is Observed In Good OldFashioned Way

Gettysburg and Adams county observed Shrove Tuesday, or Fasnacht Day, today with heaping platefuls of succulent doughnuts, smothered in sugar, gracing many tables at all three meals. Many housewives arose before daybreak today to have fasnachts on the table for breakfast.

Among the Pennsylvania Dutch there is a custom that the last person out of bed on Shrove Tuesday is the fasnacht and must go without any of the delicacies. Consequently, that is one day in the year everyone tries to get up before the other.

H. B. Gelselman, Mt. Pleasant township, had fasnachts for breakfast this morning, and he brought afterward a large box to the court house for the weekly meeting of the Adams county commissioners. As a result, the commissioners' office was the most popular place around the court house this morning.

Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, will be observed tomorrow.

Boy Scouts By

DR. W. E. TILBERG

Dean, Gettysburg College

Great emphasis is placed in the Boy Scout movement on character building and citizenship training, but the Boy Scouts of America have been wise in never losing sight of the fact that "scouting is a great game," to use the words of the founder of the movement, Lord Baden-Powell. The scout program enlarges upon the legends of knight-hood and chivalry and the lore of the plainsman and the Indian. Activities actually based upon these provide a leisure time educational game in which boys "learn by doing."

Scouting is a game in which scouts and leaders alike participate voluntarily. Boys on their part become scouts because of their own desire to play the game, and it is a game in which fathers and sons may join together with mutual satisfaction.

Good looks aren't always luck

Sparkling eyes and a smooth complexion depend on good health. The beautiful woman guards against constipation. She knows this condition can cause headaches, yellow skin, dull eyes, pimples, premature aging.

Protect yourself from constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. In addition, ALL-BRAN furnishes blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently cleans the intestines of wastes. How much safer than pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases, with every meal—will correct most types of constipation. If your trouble is not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal, with milk or cream, or use in cooking. At all grocers. In the red and green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Japs Blow Up Chinese Powder Magazine Today

Shanghai, Feb. 9 (AP).—Machine gun bullets whined across the Kiangnan race track late today and aerial bombs were dropped between here and Woosung as the Japanese attacked a large Chinese detachment throwing up defense works behind the Woosung forts.

A shell from a Japanese destroyer blew up a powder magazine earlier in the afternoon causing a terrific explosion. Nevertheless the Chinese held on.

Meanwhile the artillery was in action again in the Chapel sector and at least one foreigner was wounded by shells which dropped across the International Settlement's boundary. She was the wife of a British police officer. Her injuries were not serious. Most of the shells were duds.

On the northern boundary of the settlement the 31st U. S. Infantry took over the patrol from a British detachment. They were close enough to hear the shooting, their position being about a mile from the action in Chapel.

Behind the American lines were storehouses, coal dumps and small Chinese factories. A detachment of Shanghai volunteers was in the field near the American line. The younger members of the regiment appeared to be having a good time.

Japanese official sources today reported losses on both sides had been heavy this week.

Varsity, Frosh Play Wednesday

Varsity and freshman basketball teams of Gettysburg and Dickinson colleges, traditional sports rivals for many years, meet in the Eddie Plank Memorial gymnasium, Wednesday evening. The freshman game is called for 7 o'clock. The Orange and Blue is expected to have its hands full with the Carlisle varsity as Dickinson is reported to have the best case team in ten years. Although Dickinson is not a member of the Eastern Pennsylvania intercollegiate basketball league, Coach Henry T. Bream is bending every effort to win the contest.

Smith Insists He Is Not Candidate

New York, Feb. 9 (AP).—Alfred E. Smith pounded his desk and said he was not a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination.

"Nothing in the statement I gave out for Monday morning's papers can be interpreted as an announcement that I am a candidate," he told twenty newspapermen in his skyscraper office.

"All I said was that I would accept the nomination if the convention should choose me.

Won't Seek Support

"Now a candidate is a man who seeks the support of delegates and makes a campaign before the convention. I'm not going to do either. I have no headquarters and I'm not spending any money.

"I don't believe anyone was ever nominated who didn't make a pre-convention campaign."

DEATH VERDICT FOR RUTH JUDD

Jury Convicts Arizona Woman After Three Hours Of Deliberation Monday.

Courthouse, Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 9 (AP).—Winnie Ruth Judd was convicted by a jury Monday night of the murder of Agnes Anne LeROI.

The penalty is death by hanging. Mrs. Judd heard the reading of the death verdict without the batting of an eye.

Her habitual bandaging and unbandaging of her left hand with her handkerchief did not cease. She walked unassisted from the court room to her cell, staring out of countenance the persons who huddled in her path.

Judge Howard C. Speakman set next Tuesday as date for sentence.

Mrs. Judd's counsel, Paul J. B. Zaversack, said they would appeal.

Take Only Two Ballots

Although the jury was out three hours and forty minutes, including an hour for dinner, only two ballots were taken. The first ballot, jurymen said, was unanimous for conviction of murder in the first degree.

The second ballot set the penalty, as juries finding first degree murder guilt must do in Arizona.

Mrs. Judd, calm when she passed from sight of a trailing throng of spectators, remained apparently unmoved when she reached her cell.

"She walked into her cell," said Sheriff J. R. McFadden, "and the first thing she did was look at herself in the mirror. She gave no sign of any impending breakdown, but I am afraid her emotions will give way later."

COUNTY DOCTOR BURIED MONDAY

Dr. M. J. Brennan Services Are Held From McSherrystown Catholic Church.

Funeral services for Dr. M. J. Brennan, McSherrystown physician who died in the Hanover General hospital early Thursday morning from cerebral apoplexy, were held Monday morning with a requiem high mass in St. Mary's Catholic church, McSherrystown, at 9 o'clock.

The Rev. Dr. L. A. Reutter, rector of St. Mary's church, served as celebrant with the Rev. Father Charles Allen acting as a deacon and the Rev. Daniel Crowley as sub-deacon. Other priests in the sanctuary were the Rev. P. J. Enright, Bonneauville; the Rev. Leo Krichten, Harrisburg; the Rev. Philip Colgan, Malvern; the Rev. William Burke, Chambersburg; the Rev. Joseph Whalen, New Oxford; the Rev. Plus I. Poist, Columbia; the Rev. W. B. Weaver, York, and the Rev. William Boyle, Paradise.

The honorary pallbearers were Dr. Frederick W. Wright, Dr. George P. Ard, Dr. P. C. Lepper, Dr. Irl Z. Wentz, Dr. Richard J. Stock, and Dr. C. E. Bortner, all of Hanover, and members of the Hanover medical society, of which Doctor Brennan was president at the time of his death. The active pallbearers were Frank Colgan, Raymond Belz, Blaine Johns, Roy Groft, Joseph Small and Lawrence Buntz.

Following the service the body was taken to Shamokin, where interment took place in St. Edward's cemetery. The body was accompanied to that place by the Rev. Dr. Reutter and the Rev. Fr. Crowley and by relatives and friends of the deceased.

FARM BUREAU MEETS

Members of the Adams county farm bureau went into annual session at the court house at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. About 75 farmers were present. Murray D. Lincoln, secretary of the Ohio farm bureau federation, was to be the principal speaker for the occasion.

RILEY PROPERTY SOLD

The real estate of John D. Riley, deceased, which was sold at public sale February 6, totaled $6425. The house at 301 N. Stratton street was sold to Jacob J. Riley for $2,825. The farm in Cumberland township was sold to Maurice Felix for $3,600.

Missing Child Slain

The body of Dorothy Lutz, 7, who had been missing from her home nearly a week, was found in a vacant house in North Philadelphia, a few doors from her home.

8 HURT AS FIRE TRUCKS COLLIDE

Harrisburg Apparatus Crash Enroute To Automobile Fire Monday Night.

Harrisburg, Feb. 9.—Eight firemen were injured, two seriously, Monday night, when two fire trucks of the Friendship and the Washington Fire companies, on their way to extinguish a fire in an auto, crashed together at Fourth and Market streets.

Most seriously injured are: Harry Smith, 35, driver of the Washington truck, and Carl Suskey. Both suffered possible fractures of the spine.

Three others were taken to hospitals, where they remained for observation. They are: Howard Keys, 31, brother of Police Lieut. M. L. Keys and Police Sergt. A. C. Keys, possible fractured skull; Paul William McCoy, abrasion of right hip and possible fractures of toes, and Robert Haines, injury of back.

Others injured are: Elmer Shover, 21, fracture of left wrist and puncture wound of a foot; Robert Hoffman, 25, fracture of left hand, and John Bretz, 41, fracture of left ankle.

Friendship Driver Escapes

Bretz, Hoffman and Haines were riding on the Friendship truck which was driven by George Shickley, who escaped injury. The others were riding with Smith on the Washington truck.

According to Hoffman, who was riding on the Friendship truck, the Friendship apparatus was going north in Fourth street at a rapid speed and crashed into the Washington truck which was traveling east in Market street.

Hoffman was thrown off the truck. In the collision which overturned the Washington truck, Smith was pinned under the overturned truck. Bretz and pedestrians lifted the apparatus off Smith. Shover was hurled across Market street.

Legion's National

It is false economy to strangle national defense and that it would be better to economize in other departments and bureaus of our government rather than jeopardize the life of the nation itself. With the light of other days around us, The American Legion cannot subscribe to the doctrine of economizing at the expense of our national security.

Your committee recommends that The American Legion take a firm and aggressive stand in presenting to the American people through their congress the following:

1. That we favor the enactment into law of senate resolution No. 51, known as the Hale act, and H. R. 8230, known as the Vinson resolution, in order that our navy may be brought up to the parity strength provided by the London treaty.
2. We favor increasing the present strength of the regular army from 12,000 to 14,000 officers and to 165,000 enlisted men, the air service to have its just portion of such increase; and that our army be fully maintained as provided by the national defense act of 1920, and we pledge The American Legion to resist to the utmost any proposed reduction in the present commissioned personnel of the army.
3. We pledge the American Legion to oppose any reduction in appropriations for the National Guard of the United States, the R. O. T. C. units, C. M. T. C. units and the organized reserve because we believe them to be necessary for the security of America.
4. We are opposed to what is known as house resolution 4742, or any similar proposed law which would provide for the establishment of a department of government known as a department of national defense, at the present time.
5. We favor the passage by the present congress or house resolution

Slaybaugh, New Windsor, Maryland. The deceased was born near Gettysburg, the son of Jacob and Margaret (Herman) Furney. He was a member of Trinity Reformed church, and the P. O. S. of A. and the Junior O. U. A. M., of Waynesboro. Funeral services Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Grove funeral home, and burial in Green Hill cemetery, the Rev. Dr. F. E. Bahner officiating.

BOY CRAZY

by Grace Perkins

SYNOPSIS: A quarrel, a fight and a mad motor ride in the element of John Howard Ross himself opened the door. Tall, white, fiercely silent. Opened the door so quickly that both kids lost speech. Grasp Hope's arm and fairly yanked her inside the old hallway. Slamming the door in Dickey's face!

Stick together, will they? With Dickey on one side of the huge iron doorway, and Hope on the other?

"Dad! Dad!" cried Hope frantically, almost dropping her kitten in her panic. "Let Dickey—"

"Not a word out of you!" roared her father. "Go upstairs to your room!"

"I won't! I won't! Dad, you've got to listen to me! Dickey—"

"Go upstairs instantly!"

Hope caught her breath. She felt herself go weak. There was something close to insanity in the fury of her father's eyes! Where was good old Papa Ross—the big bluff who could always be kissed into reason? In his place stood some mighty stranger—some grim, towering creature who was the vice-president of two banks and who was used to being obeyed!

Her eyes closed. To blot out the vision of a father who looked as if he might kill! She turned, frightened, and started up the stairs.

Made straight for her room, gasping with terror. Where was everybody? Where were Mama and Goody? Why was this house so still and deathlike?

In her room, she closed the door. Maybe Papa Ross considered this man-to-man stuff. Maybe after talking to Dickey, he would speak to her. Maybe he and Dickey would fight... Oh, dear heaven, don't let them fight, because Dickey is much the stronger and wouldn't remember his strength... Wouldn't it be awful if Dad had a broken ear-drum too?

Voices jerked her out of her panic. Dropping Sassy to the floor, she hurried over to the window. Her room was at the back of the house for its eastern exposure. She couldn't see them. Not a thing. But she could hear. She could hear men's voices. Voices of the two men she loved.

"I want my wife!" she heard Dickey's yell of anger.

She tried to make out the answer. Papa Ross's voice was too strained, too harshly pitched to understand. Again Dickey's voice—getting savagely!

For some inexplicable reason, Hope found herself crying. Panting with great, choking sobs, as she fell to her knees by the window and called out to Dickey—stretching out her arms to the hills of Westchester. Where there was no Dickey to see or hear; for Dickey was on the front steps, doubling his fists and bursting with the desire to swing a swift and unarguable uppercut.

Through her own sobs and calls she heard—heard a strange and fearsome noise that made her heart stand still. Struggling to her feet, she flung open her door and stumbled down the staircase, almost tripping at the landing so blind she was with tears.

And then in the hall she came face to face with her father. Her father, who was closing the door behind him with an enormous and thudding slam!

"Where?" "Where?" she stammered, and then suddenly went voiceless.

The chug of a car answered her unfinished question.

For a moment, Hope stared through her tears at the immovable face of her father.

Her thoughts whirled around and around crazily. Where was Dickey going, and why had he left? Was he after the police? Was he hurt? Why was Papa Ross standing so stiffly, his arm limp at his side...?

Hope finds herself a prisoner tomorrow and challenges her father in a frantic encounter.

DAUPHIN COUNTY

CONSIDER NEW SITE FOR POST OFFICE

Harrisburg—Because traffic difficulties interfere with prompt handling of the mail at the Harrisburg post office, several sites other than the one at Third and Walnut streets are being considered for the proposed new federal building here.

"GEORGE WASHINGTON" TO HELP CELEBRATE

Harrisburg—A George Washington, who was born on February 22, whose father's name was George and whose mother's name was Martha, will be one of the honor guests at the joint Pennsylvania-Harrisburg observance of the original George Washington's two hundredth birthday anniversary.

Al K. Thomas, chairman of the commission in charge of the bi-centennial celebration here, made that announcement last week.

FRANKLIN COUNTY

STATE POLICE AID IN CATTLE TESTS

Chambersburg—State veterinarians, accompanied by state police, Saturday visited the premises of eleven farmers of Franklin county with a view to making tuberculosis tests of cattle.

The farms visited were those of farmers who refused to have their cattle tested during the regular test period several weeks ago. They are located in Southampton, Quincey and Washington townships.

Waynesboro—Attendance in the Waynesboro public schools during the month of January was 96 per cent, according to the report submitted at the regular meeting of the school board in the high school building Friday night. The attendance average for the year is 97 per cent.

ADD ANOTHER MEMBER TO POLICE FORCE

Waynesboro—Waynesboro borough council in a special session Friday night elected four patrolmen to work under the newly-elected chief of police, Stephen W. Staley.

The former night lieutenant, Floyd H. Maurer, and two patrolmen, D. Heller Heffner and Johnson Keil, were re-elected. The new member of the force elected Friday night was Melvin F. Summers, former chief of police and patrolman.

FREDERICK COUNTY

APPRAISAL WORK COMPLETED SOON

Fredrick—A report of the appraisalment, survey and analysis of mortgages and judgments constituting liens on real estate in Maryland and held by the receiver of the Central Trust company of Maryland under the direction of Joseph D. Baker, well known financier, is expected to be delivered this week to George W. Page, state bank commissioner and receiver of the trust company. The survey was made in accordance with an order passed by the circuit court of Frederick county the latter part of October, authorizing Mr. Page to avail himself of the services of Mr. Baker, the project being necessary to secure accurate information regarding liens.

DIDN'T MIND GETTING TAG

Fredrick—The man who did not mind receiving a red traffic tag has been found.

He is Russell L. Davis, New Market, and attached to the tag was the automobile which he had almost given up for lost. In recovering his stolen car Saturday morning, Davis was released from the duty of paying the one-dollar charge for parking all right, since he explained to police that the parking was done by an unknown person.

SIX CHILDREN TO GET NEW CHANGE

Fredrick—Six children of Mrs. Nora Engle and her husband, Millard Engle, 322 East Church street, were removed from the custody of their parents and committed to the Children's Aid society of Frederick county Friday morning by Associate Judge Arthur D. Willard, presiding in juvenile court. Two years ago the children were in court on a charge of being dependent and neglected and at that time were taken under the jurisdiction of the court but left in the custody of their parents on the condition that home conditions should be improved. The conditions at present were described as deplorable.

WASHINGTON COUNTY

ARRESTS FAIL TO STOP ROBBERIES

Hagerstown—The reign of the night prowling "glass cutter" has not been ended, in spite of the arrest of three negroes who have made partial confessions to numerous robberies in this city, within the past two months.

The homes of Richard J. Hamilton, 1028 The Terrace, and Nancy L. Ross, 600 North Prospect street, were discovered robbed Sunday morning. At the latter place $18 in cash, a .38 calibre revolver and a wrist watch were taken, while the loss at the Hamilton residence cannot be determined until the return of Mr. Hamilton, who is recuperating from a serious illness in Florida.

FATHER UNHURT, SON NEAR DEATH

Hagerstown—Frank Skelton, 23, of 40 Rochester Place, this city, is in the Washington county hospital near death with a fractured skull, the result of an accident some time Saturday afternoon in which the automobile in which he and his father, Wilbur Skelton, 45, of Sharpsburg, were riding, overturned and pinned them beneath it on the Bakersville road.

A Cold

Colds are common because people are careless. Prompt use of Bayer Aspirin will always check a cold. Or relieve your cold at any stage. And genuine Bayer Aspirin can't hurt you. Take two tablets of Bayer Aspirin at the first indication of a cold, and that's usually the end of it. If every symptom hasn't disappeared in a few hours, repeat. Bayer Aspirin does not depress the heart. Take enough to give complete relief. And if your throat is sore, dissolve some tablets in water and gargle away all soreness. In every package of genuine Bayer Aspirin are proven directions for colds, headaches, sore throat, neuralgia, neuritis. Millions who used to suffer have found winter comfort in Bayer Aspirin.

The ride back to the suburbs was tickish. Dickey's mind was not on his driving. Both were chatting valiantly. Urgently. Agreeing on everything. They mustn't be too quick or insolent with Papa Ross, because Hope understands him, and Hope knew it was best to let him steam it all off first—and then talk! Agreed! But anyway they would stick together.

If they expected an armed array to meet them at the doorway of the Ross estate, Hope and Dickey were sadly disappointed. The huge colonial house was frozen silent and quiet. Almost as if someone were dead—or seriously ill within. A breathless suspense seemed to hang over the May gardens.

The roadster chugged up the gravel-way, and stopped with a hacking cough. Without a word Hope and Dickey climbed out, and mounted the steps hand in hand. Rang the doorbell.

Hope—ringing her own doorbell, fear and tears in her throat. Standing, heart agog, before the same door where but nineteen hours ago she had hurried gaily by, dressed for dinner at the Country Club.

BOY CRAZY

by Grace Perkins

SYNOPSIS: A quarrel, a fight and a mad motor ride end in the elopement of Hope Ross and Dickey Dale. Hope is but they have decided to settle down seriously. The decision might not have been so abrupt if Hope's father had not disapproved of Dickey's father, "Hickey," a theatrical manager in New York, and her mother had not forbidden her to have Dickey in the house. The Ross family, outstanding in Westchester county society, considers Dickey an outsider. Now the difficulty is to tell Mr. and Mrs. Ross about the marriage. Hickey has welcomed the runaways, but states that Dickey must not leave college to work, as he wishes. He will finance the couple while Dickey studies. Hope and Dickey have vowed to "stick by, no matter what." Hickey promised to telephone Mr. Ross, and Hope is anxiously waiting to hear his report.

Chapter 15

PANIC TRAILS HOPE

"I do see it," nodded Hope breathlessly over her coffee. "I want Dickey to finish college, too. I insist upon it. And it'll be lots of fun to live up in Harbourn."

This last Hickey dismissed as beyond him.

"So much for my end," he explained. "I'm very fond of Hope and proud of her. I'll do anything to make you two kids happy. As long as you're square with each other and with me."

"Now—don't thank me. We have other matters to consider. Hope's family. They are dreadfully upset. It's only natural. Half the night they've been searching for Hope. Some boy named Crandall came back with the story of how you were drunk, Dickey."

"I was not!" denied the bridegroom hotly. "I had a couple of drinks—because I was mad with Hope, but I—"

"Well, I didn't think you were drunk," J. Hickson Dale shook his head and held up a restraining hand. "But the Crandall fellow evidently was in a fight with you, and this morning is suffering with a broken eardrum!"

"Oh, poor Rusty!" murmured Hope, nearly upsetting her coffee. "That's only a minor issue. You're to do the manly thing there, Dickey, whatever it is. I don't know what your fight was about. At any rate, we'll foot his doctor bills, if it comes to that."

Hope snickered openly. Imagine the Crandalls letting anyone foot the doctor bills for Rusty! Imagine the supreme disgust, the outraged insult of listening to old Hickey offering to pay for a broken eardrum inflicted by his rowdy son.

"The really important matter is still more serious," continued Hickey. "You two have got to and see Mr. Ross. Right now. He's at home, waiting for you."

"Will you come with us?" asked Hope timidly.

"If you want me to, I think it would be better if you stood on your own, and didn't have me around to fight your battles. Besides, my Irish is not always calculable. I might break into a rash and commit melodrama. After what I heard on the phone, I'm sure I would."

"You two had better go alone and do the square thing. After that, come back to me. Because I'm for you. And I'll be right here to take care of everything. Try to make peace. Don't lose your temper, son. Remember you had no right to do what you did. No right in the world. So it's up to you to make amends, and take your medicine. Take your medicine, and don't flinch. Only remember one thing! By God, you're no gutter pup, and you can make as fine a husband for Hope as the next one! Come back to me, and we'll show them. Eh, Hope?"

Hickey's voice had risen to a pitch of cholera that showed how truly his spirit had been shaken by the treatment of Papa Ross had evidently seen fit to hand him.

Hope's heart sank. She understood—swiftly and clearly. She had a swift vision of her father, with a grim, angry, unreasoning stare. Her fingertips grew cold. Even as she gathered Sassy up at Dickey's command and prepared to leave. Even as she flung her arms, kitten and all, around Hickey's neck and kissed him on the ruddy old cheek, telling him she was proud to be Mrs. Dale.

The ride back to the suburbs was ticklish. Dickey's mind was not on his driving. Both were chatting valiantly. Urgently. Agreeing on everything. They mustn't be too quick or insolent with Papa Ross, because Hope understands him, and Hope knew it was best to let him steam it all off first—and then talk! Agreed! Where was good old Papa Ross—the big bluff who could always be kissed into reason? In his place stood some mighty stranger—some grim, towering creature who was the vice-president of two banks and who was used to being obeyed!

Her eyes closed. To blot out the vision of a father who looked as if he might kill! She turned, frightened, and started up the stairs.

Made straight for her room, gasping with terror. Where was everybody? Where were Mama and Goody? Why was the house so still and deathlike?

In her room, she closed the door. Maybe Papa Ross considered this man-to-man stuff. Maybe after talking to Dickey, he would speak to her. Maybe he and Dickey would fight. . . . Oh, dear heaven, don't let them fight, because Dickey is much the stronger and wouldn't remember his strength. . . . Wouldn't it be awful if Dad had a broken ear-drum too?

Voices jerked her out of her panic. Dropping Sassy to the floor, she hurried over to the window. Her room was at the back of the house for its eastern exposure. She couldn't see them. Not a thing. But she could hear. She could hear men's voices. Voices of the two men she loved.

"I want my wife!" she heard Dickey's yell of anger.

She tried to make out the answer. Papa Ross's voice was too strained, too harshly pitched to understand.

Again Dickey's voice—getting savage!

For some inexplicable reason, Hope found herself crying. Panting with great, choking sobs, as she fell to her knees by the window and called out to Dickey—stretching out her arms to the hills of Westchester. Where there was no Dickey to see or hear; for Dickey was on the front steps, doubling his fists and bursting with the desire to swing a swift and unarguable uppercut.

Through her own sobs and calls she heard—heard a strange and fearsome noise that made her heart stand still. Struggling to her feet, she flung open her door and stumbled down the staircase, almost tripping at the landing so blind she was with tears.

And then in the hall she came face to face with her father. Her father, who was closing the door behind him with an enormous and thudding slam!

"Where?" . . . ? she stuttered, and then suddenly went voiceless.

The chug of a car answered her unfinished question.

For a moment, Hope stared through her tears at the immovable face of her father.

Her thoughts whirled around and around crazily. Where was Dickey going, and why had he left? Was he after the police? Was he hurt? Why was Papa Ross standing so stiffly, his arm limp at his side. . . ?

STATE POLICE AID IN CATTLE TESTS

Chambersburg—State veterinarians, accompanied by state police, Saturday visited the premises of eleven farmers of Franklin county with a view to making tuberculosis tests of cattle.

The farms visited were those of farmers who refused to have their cattle tested during the regular test period several weeks ago. They are located in Southampton, Quincy and Washington townships.

Waynesboro—Attendance in the Waynesboro public schools during the month of January was 96 per cent, according to the report submitted at the regular meeting of the school board in the high school building Friday night. The attendance average for the year is 97 per cent.

ADD ANOTHER MEMBER TO POLICE FORCE

Waynesboro—Waynesboro borough council in a special session Friday night elected four patrolmen to work under the newly-elected chief of police, Stephen W. Staley.

The former night lieutenant, Floyd H. Maurer, and two patrolmen, D. Heller Heefner and Johnson Keil, were re-elected. The new member of the force elected Friday night was Melvin F. Summers, former chief of police and patrolman.

APPRAISAL WORK COMPLETED SOON

Frederick—A report of the appraisalment, survey and analysis of mortgages and judgments constituting liens on real estate in Maryland and held by the receiver of the Central Trust company of Maryland under the direction of Joseph D. Baker, well known financier, is expected to be delivered this week to George W. Page, state bank commissioner and receiver of the trust company. The survey was made in accordance with an order passed by the circuit court of Frederick county the latter part of October, authorizing Mr. Page to avail himself of the services of Mr. Baker, the project being necessary to secure accurate information regarding liens.

Frederick—The man who did not mind receiving a red traffic tag has been found.

He is Russell L. Davis, New Market, and attached to the tag was the automobile which he had almost given up for lost. In recovering his stolen car Saturday morning, Davis was released from the duty of paying the one-dollar charge for parking all night, since he explained to police that the parking was done by an unknown person.

SIX CHILDREN TO GET NEW CHANGE

Frederick—Six children of Mrs. Nora Engle and her husband, Millard Engle, 322 East Church street, were removed from the custody of their parents and committed to the Children's Aid society of Frederick county Friday morning by Associate Judge Arthur D. Willard, presiding in juvenile court. Two years ago the children were in court on a charge of being dependent and neglected and at that time were taken under the jurisdiction of the court but left in the custody of their parents on the condition that home conditions should be improved. The conditions at present were described as deplorable.

ARRESTS FAIL TO STOP ROBBERIES

Hagerstown—The reign of the night prowling "glass cutter" has not been ended, in spite of the arrest of three negroes who have made partial confessions to numerous robberies in this city within the past two months.

The homes of Richard J. Hamilton, 1028 The Terrace, and Nancy L. Ross, 600 North Prospect street, were discovered robbed Sunday morning. At the latter place $18 in cash, a .38 calibre revolver and a wrist watch were taken, while the loss at the Hamilton residence cannot be determined until the return of Mr. Hamilton, who is recuperating from a serious illness in Florida.

A Cold

Colds are common because people are careless. Prompt use of Bayer Aspirin will always check a cold. Or relieve your cold at any stage. And genuine Bayer Aspirin can't hurt you. Take two tablets of Bayer Aspirin at the first indication of a cold, and that's usually the end of it. If every symptom hasn't disappeared in a few hours, repeat. Bayer Aspirin does not depress the heart. Take enough to give complete relief. And if your throat is sore, dissolve some tablets in water and gargle away all soreness. In every package of genuine Bayer Aspirin are proven directions for colds, headaches, sore throat, neuralgia, neuritis. Millions who used to suffer have found winter comfort in Bayer Aspirin.

MIND IF I COLLYER "JUNE"?

June is one of New York's "400." When she middle-aged it, dozens of eligible bachelors went back into circulation. She has a coffee-and-cream complexion, enough hot to start a fire, and a yen for sausage. She made history for herself in WARNER BROS.' PICTURE, "ALEXANDER HAMILTON." Japs Blow Up Chinese Powder Magazine Today

Shanghai, Feb. 9 (AP)—Machine gun bullets whined across the Kiangwan-race track late today and aerial bombs were dropped between here and Woonung as the Japanese attacked a large Chinese detachment throwing up defense works behind the Woonung forts.

A shell from a Japanese destroyer blew up a powder magazine earlier in the afternoon causing a terrific explosion. Nevertheless the Chinese held on.

Meanwhile the artillery was in action again in the Chapel sector and at least one foreigner was wounded by shells which dropped across the International Settlement's boundary. She was the wife of a British police officer. Her injuries were not serious. Most of the shells were duds.

On the northern boundary of the settlement the 31st U. S. Infantry took over the patrol from a British detachment. They were close enough to hear the shooting, their position being about a mile from the action in Chapel.

Behind the American lines were storehouses, coal dumps and small Chinese factories. A detachment of Shanghai volunteers was in the field near the American line. The younger members of the regiment appeared to be having a good time. Japanese official sources today reported losses on both sides had been heavy this week.

Japan Votes 14 Millions For War

Tokio, Feb. 9 (AP)—A government spokesman revealed Monday that the cabinet has approved a special appropriation of 40,000,000 yen (about $14,500,000) to cover the activities of the army and navy in the Shanghai area and certain small operations in Manchuria. The privy council must approve this appropriation, but it was taken for granted no trouble would be encountered there.

Smith Insists He Is Not Candidate

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Alfred E. Smith pounded his desk and said he was not a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination.

"Nothing in the statement I gave out for Monday morning's papers can be interpreted as an announcement that I am a candidate," he told twenty newspapermen in his skyscraper office.

"All I said was that I would accept the nomination if the convention should choose me."

Won't Seek Support

"Now a candidate is a man who seeks the support of delegates and makes a campaign before the convention. I'm not going to do either. I have no headquarters and I'm not spending any money."

"I don't believe anyone was ever nominated who didn't make a pre-convention campaign."

DEATH VERDICT FOR RUTH JUDD

Jury Convicts Arizona Woman After Three Hours Of Deliberation Monday

Courthouse, Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 9 (AP)—Winnie Ruth Judd was convicted by a jury Monday night of the murder of Agnes Anne Leight.

The penalty is death by hanging. Mrs. Judd heard the reading of the death verdict without the batting of an eye.

Her habitual bandaging and unbandaging of her left hand with her handkerchief did not cease. She walked unassisted from the courtroom to her cell, staring out of countenance, the persons who huddled in her path.

Judge Howard C. Speakman set next Tuesday as date for sentence. Mrs. Judd's counsel, Paul J. B. Zaversack, said they would appeal.

Take Only Two Ballots

Although the jury was out three hours and forty minutes, including an hour for dinner, only two ballots were taken. The first ballot, jurymen said, was unanimous for conviction of murder in the first degree.

The second ballot set the penalty, as juries finding first degree murder guilt must, do in Arizona.

Mrs. Judd, calm when she passed from sight of a thronging of spectators, remained apparently unmoved when she reached her cell.

"She walked into her cell," said Sheriff J. R. McFadden, "and the first thing she did was look at herself in the mirror. She gave no sign of any impending breakdown, but I am afraid her emotions will give way later."

Dr. M. J. Brennan Services Are Held From McSherrystown Catholic Church

Funeral services for Dr. M. J. Brennan, McSherrystown physician who died in the Hanover General hospital early Thursday morning from cerebral apoplexy, were held Monday morning with a requiem high mass in St. Mary's Catholic church, McSherrystown, at 9 o'clock.

The Rev. Dr. L. A. Reutter, rector of St. Mary's church, served as celebrant with the Rev. Father Charles Allen acting as a deacon and the Rev. Daniel Crowley as sub-deacon. Other priests in the sanctuary were the Rev. P. J. Enright, Bonneville; the Rev. Leo Krichen, Harrisburg; the Rev. Philip Colgan, Malvern; the Rev. William Burke, Chambersburg; the Rev. Joseph Whalen, New Oxford; the Rev. Plus I. Point, Columbia; the Rev. W. B. Weaver, York, and the Rev. William Boyle, Paradise.

The honorary pallbearers were Dr. Frederick W. Wright, Dr. George P. Ard, Dr. F. C. Lepper, Dr. Irl Z. Wentz, Dr. Richard J. Stock, and Dr. C. E. Bortner, all of Hanover, and members of the Hanover medical society, of which Doctor Brennan was president at the time of his death. The active pallbearers were Frank Colgan, Raymond Belz, Blaine Johns, Roy Groft, Joseph Small and Lawrence Bunty.

Following the service the body was taken to Shamokin, where interment took place in St. Edward's cemetery. The body was accompanied to that place by the Rev. Dr. Reutter and the Rev. Fr. Crowley and by relatives and friends of the deceased.

RILEY PROPERTY SOLD

The real estate of John D. Riley, deceased, which was sold at public sale February 6, totaled $4245. The house at 301 N. Stratton street was sold to Jacob J. Riley for $2,825. The farm in Cumberland township was sold to Maurice Felix for $3,600.

START DRIVE TO STOP HOARDING

Chicago Publisher Says Plan Will Resolve Into Door-to-door Plea

Washington, Feb. 9—Colonel Frank Knox, head of the commission set up by the president to induce the public to "return" hoarded millions to the channels of trade, announced at the White House that the campaign would be carried on in intensely practical fashion and in fact be resolved into a door-to-door canvas in local communities with requests that the heads of households either exhibit their confidence in the banks by depositing their hoarded savings or by purchasing bonds.

The campaign, he said, has a two-fold purpose; first, to get hoarded money back into circulation, and second, to restore confidence in the banks as institutions vital to the welfare of the country and to the necessities of every day life.

A definite plan of procedure for the campaign is being formulated by Colonel Knox. It will be announced in the near future. Meanwhile, he is perfecting the organization which will put this plan into effect. The plan, Colonel Knox indicated, "will go down to the grass roots" in each community in an effort to get every possible dollar out of hiding.

Attacked on State Lines

In regard to organization of the campaign, Colonel Knox said it was his purpose to make each head of the national organizations representing some 24,000,000 people who attended the meeting called by the president Saturday, a member of a national advisory committee. The hoarding problem, he said, would be attacked on state lines, with a campaign in each state.

"Essentially," he said, "this is a community problem, and the campaign has two angles to it. The first is, of course, the problem of getting money out of hiding. The second is the restoration of confidence in the banks. If the banks lose the confidence of the people, strangulation, results, and the community suffers. So each community must tackle its own problem."

Mrs. Kendlehart Is Buried Sunday

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie B. Kendlehart, widow of John Kendlehart, former Gettysburg attorney-at-law, who died last Thursday at her home on West Middle street, were held at the home, Sunday afternoon, with Archdeacon A. A. Hughes, of South Mountain, officiating. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

Pallbearers were J. Walter Lease, Charles Frazier, Lloyd Shearer, C. C. Stine, Robert Berkheimer and William Voorhees.

DEATHS

WINGS WALLOP DAIRY QUINTET

Harrisburg Aggregation Fails To Offer Opposition To Local Dribblers

What was listed as a basketball game but in reality was nothing more than a farce, resulted in the fourteenth triumph for the Fleet-Wing cagers here Monday night, Hoak's Dairy falling prey to the locals 57-36.

The visitors were completely outclassed from start to finish and failed to show any of their reputed strength. The Harrisburg aggregation was one of the worst teams to play here this year and it is difficult for local fans to understand where their reputation comes from.

In the first minute of play the Wings poured a quartet of goals through the cords and from then on it was only a question of how many points it would be. As the game progressed it looked more like a signal and practice drill for the gamblers rather than a game. At half time the locals led 34-14.

Very little basketball was exhibited in the last half but the fans got quite a few laughs from the comical antics of Russ Tuckey and Hen Bream who put on a little act that saved the evening from being a complete flop.

Lou Reilly went on a scoring spree to hang up 21 points for the evening with H. Bream and Gelbert runners-up. Furjanic was easily the best of the visiting team.

The first game of a series to determine the Adams county independent championship resulted in a 22-21 triumph for Cashtown over Biglerville in the preliminary game.

in the telephone exchange to permit the installation of the toll positions.

Adding a switchboard position in an exchange is usually considered routine work, but the installation of the toll position in the Gettysburg exchange necessitated the adding of extra positions at the now-growing end of the switchboard. Mr. Bixler explained that this required moving of the local position towards the growing end of the switchboard to permit installation of the toll equipment.

Modern Exchange

The toll equipment added to the switchboard is more complete and more modern than the equipment used in the old long distance exchange, telephone engineers said. The lamp signal used in operation of the new equipment is an improvement over the ring-down system. It not only makes a speedier service, but is easier to operate.

The cut-over tonight will be merely a formality and will require but a few minutes, telephone officials said. The equipment has been completed, installed and tested.

Mr. Bixler said that with the installation of the new toll positions, Gettysburg has one of the most modern manual telephone exchanges in the state.

Blessed be the Lord, who daily loaddeth us with benefits, even the God of our salvation. Selah.
He that is our God is the God
of our salvation; and unto God
the Lord belong the issues from death.
But God shall wound the head
of his enemies, and the hairy scalp of such a one as goeth on still in his trespasses.
The Lord said, I will bring again
from Bashan, I will bring my people again from the depths of the sea:
That thy foot may be dipped in the blood of thine enemies, and the tongue of thy dogs in the same.
They have seen thy goings, O
God; even the goings of my God,
my King, in the sanctuary.
The singers went before, the players on instruments followed after; among them were the dam-
sels playing with timbrels.
Bless ye God in the congregations, even the Lord, from the fountain of Israel.
There is little Benjamin with their ruler, the princes of Judah
and their council, the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali.
Thy God hath commanded thy strength: strengthen, O God, that which thou hast wrought for us.
Because of thy temple at Jerusalem shall kings bring presents
unto thee.
Rebuke the company of spear-
men, the multitude of the bulls,
with the calves of the people, till every one submit himself with pieces of silver: scatter thou the people that delight in war.
Princes shall come out of Egypt; Ethiopia shall soon stretch
out her hands unto God.
Sing unto God, ye kingdoms of the earth; O sing praises unto the Lord: Selah.
To him that rideth upon the heavens of heavens, which were
of old; lo, he doth send out his voice, and that a mighty voice.
Ascribe ye strength unto God:
his excellency is over Israel, and
his strength is in the clouds.
O God, thou art terrible out of thy holy places: the God of Israel is he that giveth strength and power unto his people. Blessed be God.

TOWN.
Personal: John Brandon, who served in the late war in Co. K, 1st Reg., Pa. Reserves, was on a visit to his friends in this neighborhood last week.

On Saturday we had another snow storm, the heaviest this winter. The snow was over 12 inches deep and heavily drifted in many places. The noon mail train did not reach Gettysburg until 4 o'clock.
The night train was delayed until after midnight.

Wood Inspector: Mr. Solomon
Powers has been appointed Wood Inspector for the borough of Gettysburg, under the new ordinance.
He has made his office in the grocery store of F. A. Keefer, corner of diamond and Carlisle street, where he can always be found. It is a central location, and persons bringing wood to town, must drive it to the center square to be measured.

Arendtsville Items: The children of Mr. Jacob Lady, of this place, surprised their father by all coming home on his birthday. A sumptuous repast was spread on the occasion.
Mr. John Snyder, of this place, left Monday for the west, where he intends engaging in business.
Mr. Seward Comfort, of Altoona, Miss Ida Fuss, Miss Annie Fuss and Mr. Calvin Fuss, of Franklin county, have been spending a short time in our midst.
Mr. Isaac Fisher, of Chester county, and his daughter, Ida, have been visiting relatives in this neighborhood.

Fire: On Thursday morning the two story brick dwelling of Charles Koppes, (tailor), on North Stratton street, in this place, was seriously damaged by fire. The family, consisting of Mr. Koppes and wife and six children, ranging from 3 to 18 years of age, occupied the rooms on the second floor as sleeping chambers. Between 5 and 6 o'clock a. m.
Mrs. Koppes was awakened by a cracking noise. She awakened her husband and it was discovered the house was on fire. Mr. Koppes and wife rushed downstairs through blinding smoke. Meanwhile, the oldest son, Paul, aged 18, with rare presence of mind, picked two of the smaller children and ran down stairs. He then procured a ladder and got the other children out through a second story window.
While taking his older sister, aged 14, down the ladder, she fell, but was not seriously injured. Paul himself escaped with a sprained ankle. While Paul was thus heroically at work Mr. Koppes rushed up stairs, in search of the youngest child, not knowing that the son had rescued it. He was forced back by the smoke and flames, but was terribly burned about the face and hands, and was found lying in the snow on the street in a helpless condition. He will be disabled for some time.

The fire evidently originated in the kitchen. The citizens extended the alarm promptly, and saved the building, which was damaged to the extent of 200 or 300. The family lost most of their wearing apparel and a large portion of the furniture. Mr. Koppes has no insurance.
He had been carrying a policy of $800 in the Adams County Mutual Insurance company which expired last March, but he neglected to renew it.

Death.—Jan. 5, at Fountaindale, Elizabeth Beard, wife of Samuel Beard, dec'd, aged 82 years.
Lochbaum.—Jan. 24, in Franklin township, Charlotte Rebecca, daughter of Albert M. and Margaret J.
Lochbaum, aged 2 years.
Riffle.—Nov. 17th, in Freedom township, of croup, Harvey Jacobs, son of George and Margaret Riffle, aged 3 years.
Smith.—Jer. 30, at residence of
J. L. Lives, in this place, Anna Barbara Smith, in the 82nd year of her age.
Sowers.—Jan. 24, in Franklin township, of diphtheria, Charles O. son of Wm. A. and C. O. Sowers, aged 2 years.

Center Mills: Mr. Isaac Fisher and daughter, of Chester county, are visiting at J. G. Weaver's. Mr.
Z. Peters is on a visit to his parents. W. W. Meals has removed to Altoona and Winfield Smith will remove to the same place.

DRUGS
Some are "agin" and some are for drugs, but those who know most about them have a different attitude.
Some patients actually boast that they never have their prescriptions filled, and proclaim that they are against pills and powders.
Others think that no visit to the doctor is complete or satisfactory unless they have carried away with them that charm-like script, the prescription.
The fact of the matter appears to be that, while the public is buying and consuming more and more drugs, physicians are using a relatively smaller number. But these are being employed with greater efficiency.
Fifty years ago prescriptions contained many drugs. They were

Valentine Fehol purchased the Cornelius Campbell and other tracts
(as warranted in 1762), in 1796, and in July, 1809, they were deeded to him, and became known as the Armagh tract, now the property of Francis Cole, and here he kept a hotel as late as 1823. In 1795 it was the property of the heirs of Hans, Hugh and James Morrison and John Sample. Morrison built the first sawmill on this property.

William Boyd kept tavern where
C. W. Stewart now lives. William Kelso settled here and built the house which is still standing, in 1770.
In 1779 Andrew Boyd purchased it
from Kelso and William Boyd, and opened it as a hotel at the foot of Piney Hill.

Trust postoffice was established in 1886, George Cole being appointed the first postmaster.

St. Ignatius Catholic Church
St. Ignatius Catholic church is situated in Buchanan Valley in the South Mountain, about ten miles
from Gettysburg, on a commanding
eminence in the southern part of Buchanan Valley. There is but little known of the early history of this church, as there is no record to be found here or at Conowago, the church from which pastors were supplied. The records were destroyed. This church was attached to Conowago church until 1858. It was originated in 1816 by John Lowster, who gave a tract of land to build it on, and the corner-stone was laid October 10, 1816. It is built of brick. Part of the land on which the church stood was sold by the sheriff, John Arendt, in the year 1819. The remainder of the land was sold and purchased by the Jesuits of Georgetown and Conowago church. Some of the original members were Jacob Sterner, Andrew Sterner, Michael Strasbaugh,
Michael Dellone, Andrew Noel, John
Walter, William Noel, Peter Dellone,
Sr., Joseph Baker and Christian
Baker. The parsonage was begun
December 27, 1818. It is a frame building and is built beside the church. The Jesuits, in 1853, sold the land in lots, reserving two acres upon which the church stands,
including the cemetery. The Rev.
Adolphus L. DeBarth celebrated
mass at the home of Andrew Noel,
Sr., which stood on the farm now owned by John and Samuel Irwin.
This was some time before the church was built; probably 1860 and 1817. He was the first pastor but there is no record of his pastorate.
The Rev. Mathew Leken succeeded
Father DeBarth and served this congregation until 1829. Fathers Kendler and Steinbacher attended this congregation also, assistants of Father Leken. Michael Dougherty

called shot gun prescriptions. They were employed on the general conviction that if the number of drugs
was sufficiently large, one of them
at least would hit the mark.
Pharmacology, the science of drugs, has made great strides during the last half century in studying their effects.
The result has been that inert
and ineffective drugs have been eliminated from the official list, and prescriptions simplified.
Only a few drugs cure diseases.
These are the so-called specifics.
Most drugs are employed to aid the body in overcoming disease, or in correcting faulty physiology.

Certain drugs are invaluable aids
in the treatment of disease, but most of those used by the average person in self-treatment for minor ailments could be profitably replaced by such agents as heat, cold,
massage, rest, and baths.

There is, therefore, no warrant
for the attitude of the drug nihilist, and only a little for that of the drug enthusiast.

Drugs are tools. They have a limited sphere of application, but
are very useful in given conditions.
They are not without danger when employed by those lacking adequate training and experience.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LONESOME LIGHTS

SOME friends of a friend of mine moved to a nearby suburb of New York city. They had a comfortable home and loved the community—but for nearly a year no one called on them and they became very lonesome for the communion of those all about them.
One day the husband suggested that it would be a wonderful idea if a certain lamp could be invented that everyone would know upon seeing it.
It would be placed in the window of a home—and people would know it as a "Lonesome Light," for certainly there must be many such couples who also would like to have people drop in upon them when lonesome.
The germ of an idea, I would say, but all too often we, who are lonesome, have ourselves much to blame. Early in life each of us should form as many "contacts" as possible. It has been said that to have friends you must make yourself friendly—in other words, be a friend.
But there are times when, no matter how many contacts we may have, or how many friends, we grow hungry for human association and understanding. Perhaps at such a time the "Lonesome Light" might come in handy!
Rather would I think that each of us in ourself might ever display this light in our eyes, our attitude, our bearing—throwing out a light into the world that might attract those who are in need of a friendly hand.
I have always enthused over the hospitality and friendliness of those who live in the country and in the wide, open spaces of the west. There always seems to be an invisible Lonesome Light ever displayed in such places. I have never received anything but wonderful and happy receptions in such places.
You see, I would not only have the Lonesome Light tell of lonesome people inside, where the light appears, but I would have it be a call; to those outside of the welcome awaiting them, and its desire to banish all lonesomeness!

JUDAS ISCARIOT

Judas Iscariot got thinking; bitter things
And building cruel notions out of wild imaginings.
He'd heard much talk of kingship,
but what leader with a crown
Would have to beg for shelter when he visited a town?
Of the miracles he'd witnessed he'd begun to have a doubt,
And they'd pay him thirty shekels if he'd point the Master out!

Judas Iscariot grew solemn-faced
and white.
Fantastic thoughts of envy kept him
wide awake at night.
The Christ was meek and lowly, and
he couldn't clearly see Why Caesar should be worried by this man of Galilee.
If he really is the Saviour, then no
harm can come from this.
So for thirty bits of silver he betrayed Him with a kiss!

Judas Iscariot went out alone to die
Upon the ugly patch of ground the silver went to buy.
Some say he hanged himself; some say that he was found.
A disemboweled body on that barren
bit of ground.
But Judas Iscariot left this great
truth behind:
The bitter stuff of jealousy is poison
to the mind.

Dear Sirs:

Your salesman, Mr. E. A. Mays, persuaded me to try some of your Premier Broiler Mash, and I am quite well satisfied with the results. I have tried it on a lot of 1,000 chicks. I started them with Premier Baby Chick Starter and gradually brought them into the broiler mash. The chicks are now four weeks old and weigh 7/8 of a pound apiece, which I think is excellent, as this is the only lot of chicks that have been raised as much as that at four weeks of age since I have been raising broilers. So, I am writing to give you these facts. I have started another lot on same feed, and it looks as though the second lot is going to beat the first lot.

Read The Bible With Us Daily

Blessed be the Lord, who daily leadeth us with benefits, even the God of our salvation. Selah.

He that is our God is the God
of our salvation; and unto God
the Lord belong the issues from death.

But God shall wound the head
of his enemies, and the hairy
scalp of such a one as goeth on
still in his trespasses.

The Lord said, I will bring again
from Bashan, I will bring my people again from the depths of the sea.

That thy foot may be dipped in
the blood of thine enemies, and
the tongue of thy dogs in the same.

They have seen thy goings, O
God; even the goings of my God,
my King, in the sanctuary.

The singers went before, the players on instruments followed
after; among them were the dam-
sels playing with timbrels.

Bless ye God in the congregations, even the Lord, from the fountain of Israel.

There is little Benjamin with their ruler, the princes of Judah
and their council, the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali.

Thy God hath commanded thy strength: strengthen, O God, that which thou hast wrought for us.

Because of thy temple at Jerusalem shall kings bring presents
unto thee.

Rebuke the company of spear-
men, the multitude of the bulls,
with the calves of the people, till
every one submit himself with pieces of silver: scatter thou the people that delight in war.

Princes shall come out of Egypt; Ethiopia shall soon stretch
out her hands unto God.

Sing unto God, ye kingdoms of the earth; O sing praises unto the Lord; Selah.

To him that rideth upon the heavens of heavens, which were
of old; lo, he doth send out his voice, and that a mighty voice.

Ascribe ye strength unto God:
his excellency is over Israel, and
his strength is in the clouds.

O God, thou art terrible out of thy holy places: the God of Israel is he that giveth strength and power unto his people. Blessed be God.

HISTORY OF ADAMS COUNTY

A Chronological Review Of Things That Have Gone Before, And The Trials And Tribulations Of Our Ancestors, As Published Serially For The Benefit Of Gettysburg Times' Readers.

BUCHANAN VALLEY—continued

Valentine Fehol purchased the Cornelius Campbell and other tracts
(as warranted in 1762). In 1796, and in July, 1809, they were deeded to him, and became known as the Armagh tract, now the property of Francis Cole, and here he kept a hotel as late as 1825. In 1795 it was the property of the heirs of Hans, Hugh
and James Morrison and John Sample. Morrison built the first sawmill on this property.

William Boyd kept tavern where
C. W. Stewart now lives. William Kelso settled here and built the house which is still standing, in 1770.
In 1779 Andrew Boyd purchased it
from Kelso and William Boyd, and opened it as a hotel at the foot of Piney Hill.

Trust postoffice was established in 1886, George Cole being appointed the first postmaster.

St. Ignatius Catholic Church
situated in Buchanan Valley in the South Mountain, about ten miles
from Gettysburg, on a commanding
eminence in the southern part of Buchanan Valley. There is but little known of the early history of this church, as there is no record to be found here or at Conowingo,
the church from which pastors were supplied. The records were destroy-

ed. This church was attached to Conowingo church until 1858. It was originated in 1816 by John Lowsterter, who gave a tract of land to build it on, and the corner-stone
was laid October 10, 1816. It is built of brick. Part of the land on which the church stood, was sold by the sheriff, John Arendt, in the year
1819. The remainder of the land was sold and purchased by the Jesuits of Georgetown and Conow-ingo church. Some of the original members were Jacob Sterner, Andrew Sterner, Michael Strasbaugh,
Michael Dellone, Andrew Noel, John
Walter, William Noel, Peter Dellone,
Sr., Joseph Baker and Christian
Baker. The parsonage was begun
December 27, 1818. It is a frame building and is built beside the church. The Jesuits, in 1853, sold
the land in lots, reserving two acres upon which the church stands,
including the cemetery. The Rev.
Adolphus L. DeBarth celebrated
mass at the home of Andrew Noel,
Sr., which stood on the farm now owned by John and Samuel Irwin.
This was some time before the church was built; probably 1800 and 1817. He was the first pastor but there is no record of his pastorate.

The Rev. Mathew Leken, succeeded
Father DeBarth and served this congregation until 1829. Fathers Kend-
ler and Steinbacher attended this congregation also, assistants of Father Leken. Michael Dougherty
called shot gun prescriptions. They were employed on the general conviction that if the number of drugs
was sufficiently large, one of them
at least would hit the mark.

Pharmacology, the science of drugs, has made great strides during the last half century in studying their effects.

The result has been that inert
and ineffective drugs have been eliminated from the official list, and prescriptions simplified.

Only a few drugs cure diseases.
These are the so-called specifics.
Most drugs are employed to aid the body in overcoming disease, or in correcting faulty physiology.

Certain drugs are invaluable aids
in the treatment of disease, but most of those used by the average person in self-treatment for minor ailments could be profitably replaced by such agents as heat, cold,
massage, rest, and baths.

There is, therefore, no warrant
for the attitude of the drug nihilist,
and only a little for that of the drug
enthusiast.

Drugs are tools. They have a limited sphere of application, but
are very useful in given conditions.
They are not without danger when employed by those lacking adequate training and experience.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SOME friends of a friend moved to a nearby suburb of New York city. They had a comfortable home and loved the community—but for nearly a year no one called on them and they became very lonesome for the communion of those all about them.

One day the husband suggested that it would be a wonderful idea if a certain lamp could be invented that everyone would know upon seeing it.
It would be placed in the window of a home—and people would know it as a "Lonesome Light," for certainly there must be many such couples who also would like to have people drop in upon them when lonesome.

The germ of an idea, I would say, but all too often we, who are lonesome, have ourselves much to blame. Early in life each of us should form as many "contacts" as possible. It has been said that to have friends you must make yourself friendly—in other words, be a friend.

But there are times when, no matter how many contacts we may have, or how many friends, we grow hungry for human association and understanding. Perhaps at such a time the "Lonesome Light" might come in handy!

Rather would I think that each of us in ourself might ever display
this light in our eyes, our attitude, our bearing—throwing out a light into the world that might attract those who are in need of a friendly hand.
I have always enthused over the hospitality and friendliness of those who live in the country and in the wide, open spaces of the west. There always seems to be an invisible Lonesome Light ever displayed in such places. I have never received anything but wonderful and happy receptions in such places.

You see, I would not only have the Lonesome Light tell of lonesome people inside, where the light appears, but I would have it be a call; to those outside, of the welcome awaiting them, and its desire to banish all lonesomeness!

JUDAS ISCARIOT

Judas Iscariot, great thinking bitter things

And building cruel notions out of wild imaginings.

He'd heard much talk of kingship,
but what leader with a crown

Would have to beg for shelter when
he visited a town?

Of the miracles he'd witnessed he'd
begun to have a doubt,
And they'd pay him thirty shekels if he'd point the Master out!

Judas Iscariot grew solemn-faced
and white.

Fantastic thoughts of envy kept him
wide awake at night.

The Christ was meek and lowly, and
he couldn't clearly see Why Caesar should be worried by
this man of Galilee.

If he really is the Saviour, then no
harm can come from this.

So for thirty bits of silver he betrayed him with a kiss!

Judas Iscariot went out alone to die
Upon the ugly patch of ground the silver went to buy.

Some say he hanged himself; some
that he was found.

A disemboweled body on that barren
bit of ground.

But Judas Iscariot left this great
truth behind:

The bitter stuff of jealousy is poison
to the mind.

Dear Sirs:

Your salesman, Mr. E. A. Mays, persuaded me to try some of your Premier Broiler Mash, and I am quite well satisfied with the results. I have tried it on a lot of 1,000 chicks. I started them with Premier Baby Chick Starter and gradually brought them into the broiler mash. The chicks are now four weeks old and weigh 7 1/2 of a pound apiece, which I think is excellent, as this is the only lot of chicks that have weighed as much as that at four weeks of age since I have been raising broilers. So, I am writing to give you these facts. I have started another lot on same feed, and it looks as though the second lot is going to beat the first lot.

Respectfully,

Just Another Way of Saying
"I'm Suffering from Acidity!"

So restless you can't be still a moment. Something seems to be churning within you. You can't eat—can't sleep—can't work. You're "all in," yet you always want to be on the go. That's one of the phases of an acid condition.

Magnesia Oxids, developed in Germany by a famous pharmaceutical house, correct acidity in the right way. Magnesia Oxids, upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate nascent or active oxygen. This stimulates the alkaline gastric mucus, checks intestinal putrefaction and promotes bowel action—all of which are necessary to the true correction of acidity. Get a package of Magnesia Oxids today and take two after each meal. See how much better you feel. If not more than surprised with the results, your money back. For sale by all good druggists.

A Call from the Republican National Committee

MY FELLOW REPUBLICAN:—

This is a direct, a personal appeal to you as a party leader in your community.

There must be held in every county in the United States on Lincoln's Birthday, February 12th, a meeting of patriotic Republicans. Whether it be three or three hundred and whether it be for five minutes or five hours—in your home, on the street corner, court house steps or in public hall.

In the name of the Republican Party, that was saved with the Union by Lincoln—loyal and patriotic Republicans should get together to do honor to his memory.

If it is only a small meeting—if you can get together only a few, you should call them together at some time, in some place on that day and stand at attention and salute the living memory of Lincoln. The old spirit still survives! Loyal Republicanism still lives! Patriotism never surrenders! Leadership will bring it out and carry on!

"It is not the size of the dog in the fight, it is the size of the fight in the dog."

In many of the larger cities and in some of the smaller ones, Lincoln Day banquets, dinners and celebrations have been arranged. There, under the inspiration of Lincoln's memory, Republican leaders will discuss the cause of Republicanism and loyal party men and women will rededicate themselves to the principles for which Lincoln lived and gave his life.

If no such meeting has yet been arranged in your community, I am making a personal, direct and patriotic appeal to you to see that this is done. And let me repeat—if you can only bring together three loyal Republicans, get those three together in a short ceremony or celebration in honor of Lincoln. Do this for the Republican Party, which has been, is now and always shall be.

And may you, on that day, under the majestic spell of so inspiring a memory, arouse your fellow Republicans to a determination to take up the fight for the Grand Old Party. The time has come for party leaders to make a concerted drive to revive the interest and the enthusiasm of the Republicans of this country in the welfare of their Party and of the nation.

The vicious and slanderous million-dollar campaign of the Democrats to discredit the President of the United States and to destroy the usefulness of the Republican Party has had its effect. This propaganda to lay the troubles of the world in the lap of the Republican Party has made some headway. But the tide has turned! The people are beginning to understand! Republican leaders are beginning to fight!

We are not going to take this Democratic assault lying down. We are not going to let them trample us under-foot. We never have and we never will!

We are going to strike out in courageous defense of the Republican Party. We will meet the enemy moving forward. We are going to fight—as we always have—and we are going to win!

Get your Republicans together! Appeal to their loyalty! Arouse their enthusiasm! Build up their courage! Inspire them with party pride and patriotism! Fire them with a determination to win!

Enthusiasm! Courage! Determination! That insures Republican victory!

This is an appeal to patriotism. Will you join with me in an earnest, heart-felt, determined effort to pull our fellow Republicans out of the maze of uncertainty which now envelops them to again get their eyes raised and riveted on the ideals and aspirations of Abraham Lincoln, from whose hands the Republican Party has come to us to carry on?

The fight is on now! There is no time to lose! Every day counts! And we are counting on you in your community to defend, uphold and protect the interests of the Republican Party.

Again appealing to you, in all earnestness and sincerity, to make the best of Lincoln's Birthday to arouse the enthusiasm and to revive the fighting spirit of the Republicans of your community to a patriotic determination to again carry the party banner to victory in the coming presidential campaign, I am

Most sincerely,
ROBERT H. LUCAS,
Executive Director

MAROONS FACE HANOVER FIVE

High School Outfit Engages Old Rivals in Local Gym Tonight.

Two ancient rivals will meet on the basketball court tonight when Hanover high sends its powerful team to Gettysburg for a battle with Coach Eugene Martin's Maroon and White quintet.

In the first meeting between these teams at Hanover several weeks ago, Coach Bowser's passers walloped the locals 35-20. The York countians are confident of repeating their triumph and are favorites to win tonight's game.

Hanover has turned in a splendid record this year and boasts of having one of its best teams in the history of the school. The Orange and Black tribe has won some notable victories this year and include in the list Steelton high, present leaders of the league race.

Coach Martin and his squad are hoping to break their losing streak of nine games at the expense of the Hanover invaders. The Maroons were sent through a snappy drill on Monday and are in fine physical condition for the game.

The Maroon and White scrubs will meet the Hanover high reserves in a preliminary game starting at 7 o'clock.

A large delegation of fans from Hanover is reported to be planning to accompany their team and the largest crowd of the season is expected to see this game.
